PHA PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

On behalf of the officers, Council and the more than three hundred members of the Pennsylvania Historical Association, I am delighted to welcome you to our 87th Annual Meeting. Since 1933, the PHA's yearly conference has served to highlight the best new research on the commonwealth and the Mid-Atlantic region, provided a forum for the renewal of collegial friendships and the forging of new relationships, and allowed for many thousands of participants to witness firsthand the wonderful culture and unique flavor of the dozens of communities that have hosted the event over the years. This year's conference will be no different as we return to historic Lancaster for the fifth time (1937, 1953, 1987, 2002 and 2018). While Lancaster County is widely known for its fertile fields and vibrant "Pennsylvania Dutch" heritage, in recent years Lancaster city has developed a vibrant nightlife, restored architectural treasures, and emphasized its walkable streets. The PHA, too, has sought to retain the traditions that have allowed us to thrive for more than eighty-five years, while seeking out new opportunities for collaboration, service to our members, and public advocacy. Key initiatives over the past year have included partnering with the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to restart the popular Scholars in Residence grant program, adding a new Social Media and Web Editor position, and launching the Irwin Marcus Prize for best paper on Pennsylvania History submitted to the state National History Day competition. This vital work is made possible thanks to your membership dues and the generous contributions of our donors. For more information on how you can support PHA programs, please visit <https://pa-history.org/donate/>

Allen Dieterich-Ward, President
Pennsylvania Historical Association

We are delighted to welcome you to Lancaster, Pennsylvania and the 2018 Pennsylvania Historical Association Annual Meeting and Conference! Over the past year the Program Committee, has worked diligently to ensure a great selection of conference presentations. We thank them for their hard work and dedication. Organized around the theme of City, County, Commonwealth, and Country: Local and Regional History as America's History, we hope all will discover something to engage the mind and inspire deeper exploration of the history of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Our Local Arrangements Committee, consisting of a superb cadre of Lancasterians to whom we are most grateful, has worked to ensure that your time here is memorable for all the right reasons. We hope you will enjoy our town, its shops, historic sites, fine restaurants, intriguing watering holes, galleries, music and more! Please call on any of our ambassadors to assist you, direct you, or answer your questions. Once again, welcome and thank you for your attendance!

Thomas K. Gilhool is former Pennsylvania Secretary of Education (1987-9) and a civil rights attorney and lead counsel with the Public Interest Law Center of Philadelphia. A graduate of Lehigh University, Yale University, and Yale Law School, Gilhool has been recognized internationally for his role in securing civil rights for individuals with disabilities. Perhaps his two most famous cases were PARC v. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Halderman v. Pennhurst State School and Hospital, which transformed American jurisprudence and public policy.

Andrea Lowery is the Executive Director for the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission. A preservationist and an architect with more than 20 years of experience, she served most recently as chief of the agency's Division of Architecture and Preservation, managing planning and construction projects across PHMC's historic sites and museums. She continues to serve as the agency's project manager for the new Pennsylvania State Archives in Harrisburg. Lowery holds a bachelor's degree in history of art from Bryn Mawr College and a master's degree in architecture from the Ohio State University.

Randall M. Miller is the William Dirk Warren '50 Sesquicentennial Chair & Professor of History at Saint Joseph's University. He is the author or editor of more than 25 books on such various subjects as slavery, race, religion, the Civil War and Reconstruction, reform, regions (the Mid-Atlantic and the South), immigration and ethnicity, and politics. He recently co-authored The Northern Home Front during the Civil War (2017). He is a former editor of the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, a past president of the Pennsylvania Historical Association, and, with the late William Pencak, the co-editor of Pennsylvania: A History of the Commonwealth (2002), which is now being updated and revised for a new edition.

Timothy J. Shannon teaches early American and Native American history at Gettysburg College. His most recent book is Indian Captive, Indian King: Peter Williamson in America and Britain (Harvard University Press, 2018). His research has been supported by fellowships from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the John Carter Brown Library, and the Huntington Library.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF THE COCALICO VALLEY

Our Mission

We are dedicated to discovering, gathering and preserving materials and data relative to the community known as the Cocalico Valley. All items in the museum collection were either made in the Cocalico Valley or were used by and/or owned by people living in the area. The Cocalico Valley encompasses ten municipalities in Northeastern Lancaster County — the Boroughs of Adamstown, Akron, Denver, and Ephrata and the Townships of East and West Cocalico, Clay, Ephrata, West Earl, and a portion of Earl.

The Letters of Mary Penry

A Single Moravian Woman in Early America
Edited by Scott Paul Gordon
320 pages | 7 b&w illus.
Pietist, Moravian, and Anabaptist Studies Series

“A thoroughly astonishing record of a woman’s life, work, and thought in the age of the American Revolution. This source adds an essential work to the corpus of women’s writings from the eighteenth century. It will be prized by scholars and readers alike for a long time to come.”

—Katherine Carté Engel, author of Religion and Profit: Moravians in Early America

Sentiments of a British-American Woman

Esther DeBerdt Reed and the American Revolution
Owen S. Ireland
264 pages

“In a comprehensive and moving study, Owen Ireland brings to light the important but little-known story of Esther DeBerdt Reed, one of the most powerful female figures to emerge during the American Revolution. Improbable, inspirational, and instructive, Reed’s life is a tale of female self-invention and of love played out in the shadows of the Revolutionary crisis.”

—Rosemarie Zagarri, author of Revolutionary Backlash: Women and Politics in the Early American Republic

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania

Life and Law in the Commonwealth, 1684–2017
Edited by John J. Hare
456 pages | 25 b&w illus.

“This book successfully achieves what most of its kind cannot—it both educates and inspires. John Hare and his remarkable team of contributors address diverse historical and contemporary topics in a way that generations of lawyers and historians will both enjoy and treasure. This terrific book preserves, unlike any other, the incredible legacy of our Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.”

—Maureen E. Lally-Green, Superior Court of Pennsylvania, J. (ret)
